Houston, April 23. I have just returned from Min-eral Wells and in reading over the accumulated copies of the paper, I notice that you are at all times constantly fighting for good roads. Being interested in Bryan and Brazos county's future from a sentimental stand-point, I sincerely hope that you will keep up the good work, un-til something is done. Nearly every county in Texas is issuing bonds and getting in the game early and it makes my heart sick to know that you are so slow to move. The people of Brazos county will vote any reasonable amount you will put to them, if you will just call the election.

Navasota is to appear before the state highway commission next Tuesday to ask for a designated road from the northern end of the county along the east side thereof, to the southern end, and one on the west side, from north to south. As was forecast in yesterday's issue of the Eagle, A. and M. College not only subscribed its quota to the Victory Loan but went over the top at noon today with an over-subscription of $16,000, with some departments yet to hear from.

The quota for the College was $42,000, but at noon today $50,000 had already been signed up, department heads stood sponsor for $7,500 more which will be signed up during the day, and the indications were that by the time all the subscriptions have been turned in the total amount will reach $60,000, or an over-subscription of $18,000.

The farmers defeated the Baylor Bears on Kyle field yesterday afternoon in a hard hitting game of base ball by a score of 8 to 6. The same teams will play today at 5.

Munch was back in the box for the Farmers for the first time since he broke an arm early in the season. He was a little nervous at first and not quite up to his old form but the way he put the ball across was a joy to Farmer eyes. Higginbotham was the star of the game, playing errorless ball at shortstop and covering a good deal of the outfield as well. In five trips to the bat he got a single, a double and a triple, and sent two long double and a triple, and sent two long flies out into the outfield. He was credited with three of the Farmers

NEED OF FOOD PRODUCTION

United States. The problem is not that of merely feeding 86,500,000 people once, but of feeding them every day until they shall become self-sustaining. The United States, of course, does not shrink from its task. peace, as well as in war, it will con serve and save at home in order that there shall be the least possible want abroad. Germany, Austria, Turkey and Bulgaria were enemy countries the other day; they are not particularly friendly today; but the people of the lands still, for convenience, known by those names, are not to be allowed to famish. The United States is depended upon to furnish these, in com-mon with the people of the allied countries still in distress, with food. It can be done, but it cannot be done without causing a great deficit at home unless the spirit that prevailed during the war shall be renewed. The during the war shall be renewed. The American people of all classes must return to gardening once more. Every pound of foodstuffs raised on the vacant or the back lot frees a pound raised somewhere by the general farmer or gardener. Home gardening is often the subject of light resource. dening is often the subject of light re mark, and the home gardener is often a butt for the local joker; but the fact remains that in the home gardens of the United States last year, as a result principally of the work of amateurs, millions of tons were, in the aggregate, added to the world's food

Aside from this, there is another and an urgent call for an increased acreage in farm cultivation. There should be no idle fields or tracts this The world must be fed, and the United States must, of necessity, play a large part in the feeding of it. Discontent is broadcast, and it is largely due to want so generally prevalent in the war-worn nations. Even employ-ment does not supply this want. Millions of people who are willing to work must, nevertheless, go on short ra-tions. The sooner this condition is relieved the better it will be for world tranquility.

One great advantage, this year, is that the seas are open. Another is that new shipping is being rapidly ad-ded to the supply fleet. Germany has been brought to terms in the matter of furnishing transportation for foodstuffs to meet her own needs. There is no reason to doubt that, under the system which Mr. Hoover and his assistants have established, the work of distribution will be carried on effi-

To the United States the way is open and clear. What has been done can be repeated and improved on. The experience gained in agriculture, by professionals and amateurs alike dur ing the last four years, when intensive farming has been practiced to a great er degree than ever before in the history of the United States, should be drawn upon this spring for the production of record crops.

GOOD ROADS HELP SCHOOLS

Some farmers oppose good roads and object to paying taxes for the maintainence of good roads and these same farmers complain at the lack of school advantages given their children in rural districts.

This class fail to realize that one of the advantages of good roads is the improvement of the country school.

In Texas the country school term is placed, as far as possible, so that the children may help gather the cot ton crop, which is usually out by De cember 1. This places the school ses sion during that part of the year in which bad weather and resulting bad roads are most common. Everyone knows that where children have go to school from a distance cold, bad weather means being kept at home and the effect is to have the school a a time when the children can go to it

Records of seven district school in one county before and after the improvement of the roads showed ar increase of attendance amounting to 30 percent of the scholastic populat and following the improvement of the roads several districts consolidated thus changing from a one-teacher ba sis to the graded school with a principal and competent assistance, giving the children the same educational advantages as city children. In anothe county with at least 40 percent of th scholastic population in farming communities the enrollment increased more than one thousand, following the improvement of the roads, and the daily attendance arose from 60 to 90 percent.

The road which can be convenient! used every day in the year makes possible to bring children from greate distances and makes attendance reg ular. It enables districts to consc date and build good school house where the children will not become sick from exposure to coughs and colds. The increased farm value through road improvement brings larger school tax, enabling the con munity to hire more and better teach

The ram-shackle neighborhood, ev denced by ram-shackle roads, will have ram-shackle schools and turn out ram shackle pupils, who will thereby have a lessened opportunity of making progress in the world in competition with the young men and women of other more progressive communities. Texas will stand higher in educational progress if it will build better

ARE YOU ONE OF THE KICKERS?

There has been a sharp increase in the price of all farm products and many city people are sending up a vig-orous howl, and are loudly protesting is trying to reduce its cotton acreage pregnant. weight production to the risk that a many years, and it is surprising to hear e-country people cry out against high prices for foodstuffs. It seems that some of these people are taking the lead in referring to farmers as of soul, inseparable from the right of t profiteers, organizers of trust and so forth. They seem to be especially se-vere in their condemnation of farmers co-operating in communities for the purpose of selling their milk and othr products for something like the cost production plus a reasonable profit. Herbert Hoover reports 86,500,000 people in Europe in actual need of food. The dependence of these people until crops shall be raised in their own countries, will be mainly upon the United States. The problem is not the problem is not the following the f existence. They favor an eight-hour hay and good wages for city dwellers, but expect farmers to toil from twelve o fifteen hours per day and to be satsfied with the bare necessities of life. Farmers rejoice with town and city people over short hours and fairly good wages, and cannot understand why these people expect to be fed at ess than cost of production. Farmers realize that laboring people in towns and cities must be properly fed, clothed and housed, and cannot understand why those who till the soil should not be shown the same considration. In other words, farmers see no reason why town and city people should ex-pect them to be satisfied with less than the laboring man in town and city enjoys. Unless the present farmers do receive sufficient money for their farm produce to enable them to

At this time no question is of more importance to the southern farmer than is the cotton question. Shall he put Brazos county over the top." reduce his cotton acreage or not is a ital question just at this time.

There are conflicting opinions, and while it is safe to state that the majority of those best informed unhes itatingly state that the prosperity of the south depends on the southern cotton farmer reducing his cotton acreage there are others who advise him to Anent this question the following from the Progressive Farmer, one of the best farm papers in the south will not be amiss. This conservative pubication says:

"There is no more important probem before the south today than that of getting fair prices for the south's cotton crop. The prosperity of our merchants, bankers, and professional men, as well as the prosperity of our farmers depend upon the right solution of this problem and all should interest themselves in it.

Of two propositions there seems to be no reason for doubt: First, conditions are such that holders of spot cotton should not sell at present prices. Second, Conditions are such that the 19 crop acreage s cut-if possible, as much as 33 1-3 per

In other words, the present crop be ing so short, must surely bring higher prices than now prevail; but planting the same acreage we planted last year might easily produce a crop so large as to make disastrously low prices next fall.

This is the situation in a nutshell. Last year the south produced only 156 pounds of lint cotton per acre. In 1914 we made 209 pounds per acre, or exactly one-third more per acre than ast year—which means that if last year's acre yield had been as good as in 1914, our crop would have been 5,600,000 bales instead of 11,700,000 Or it means that if we plant last year's acreage this year and the yield as good as in 1914, we will have 15,600,000 bales to market instead of 11,700,000 as in the case of the present

We must insist on fair prices for ur 11,700,000 bale crop—and we are onfident we shall get better prices han now obtain-but we can't afford o risk a 15,000,000 bale crop. To hold to the present crop and re-uce the next crop is manifestly therere the one way to relieve the present otton situation; but we hope the pres-nt emergency will set us to thinking bout ways to permanently increase he price of cotton. That subject we re discussing on the next page, and shall be glad to have cotton growg readers send us their views as to e points there made.

and kindness. This new song goes with the new cause and power, the all-loving allgood God.

The new song of safety has been heard above the roar of cannon on the battle-field, above the raging elements at sea. It was often on the lips of heroes at the time when they seemed to become separated from their comrades by the veil which is called death. It burst forth in homes glorified by acts of nobility abroad. The new song is sung by the timid made valiant; the weak grown strong; the hopeless, hopeful; the sickly, healthful; and the godless, Godlike. Every one can learn this divine music, who brings to this learning honest purpose and spiritual endurance, and a firm determination to deal justly by his fellow man.

IT WOULD BE A CRYING SHAME

H. O. Boatwright says that it vould be a crying shame for the people of Brazos county, and the state of Texas, to fail to take their quota of the victory loan. "The loan is an admirable investment," says Mr. Boatwright, "and should appeal to our people from an investment standpoint, as these bonds, paying the interest they do, free from taxation, and running only four years, will soon be in de-mand by bond buyers throughout the country and will, within a short time, go to par or far above par."

"Then again the people up north are saying that they did all the fighting, and have furnished the greater portion of the money to carry on the war, and now for us to fall down on taking our quota of this loan would e a crying shame to our people of the south. I hope that every man will subscribe to the victory loan and help

About Brilliance (Dallas News.)

When a smart man does not suc eed it is because he lacks courage or, everness. Many men invent things of paramount good only to be outwit-ted by some other who has the capial and the brains to get it away from the originator. There should be a patent for originality-a method of protecting the less moneyed brain to lands where they are ignored—but from the clutches of the silver-domed they are taking their money. The apitalist who always keeps open port or the untiring labors of other beings. -Jefferson Herald.

To be clever is not much of recom-nendation. The world is jammed with lever men. To be brilliant is some times a positive handicap to the indi-vidual. But when cleverness or briliance is hitched onto practical appli cations, then genius comes into its own. Genius is a capacity for understanding combined with a faculty or actual practice. FREEDOM-LOVING

DEPENDENCIES.

Hawaii, Alaska, Porto Rico and the Philippines desire their independence. They feel they are capable of running their own affairs. Each one has its own traditions, is inhabited by races other than the predomi-nant race in the United States. Each one contributed to the winning of the war for democracy and for the triumph of the principles of self-determination of nations.

Why does not England come to the aid of these people? The congress of the United States having adopted a resolution calling upon Great Britain to "free" Ireland, which resisted conscription and whose dominant faction connived with the enemy to stab Eng? land in the back and thus overthrow civilization, and a party of Americans having taken it upon themselves to carry the Irish cause to the peace conference which the Sinn Feiners helped to delay, it is in order now for Britain to demand that the United States "free" her possessions and give them a chance to live their lives in their own way.

This would be a sensible way for Great Britain to retaliate upon Americans for meddling with her affairs. Of course, she will not do it, but it would be nothing more than a de-serving rebuke if she did. She will settle the Irish question in her own way and without asking any advice from the hy-phenates and makers of political capital in this or any other Americans of all origins hope to see Ireland receive justice and assume a place in the world which will be satisfactory to her people. But most of them doubt the propriety of interfering in the domestic affairs of a friendly nation. One of the surest ways to win the hatred of a whole family is to participate in a family

How the Selective Draft Proved an Impos-

By GEN. E. H. CROWDER, Provost Marshal General, U. S. A.

We are now too close to the events of the war to assess them accurately. How great a part the American selective service played in the drama of the world war history alone can tell.

That a new and untried scheme of selection could succeed at all was to many doubtful; that it should attain results beyond the fondest dreams of its most ardent supporters was unbelievable. To enroll for service 24,000,000 men, to mobilize a selected army of more than 2,800,000, a million of them in ninety days; to have presently available for military duty 2,000,000 additional men; to classify this vast man power in the order of its military and industrial importance so as to preserve the domestic and industrial life of the nation, to speed up war-time activities, to maintain them in a state of maximum efficient production, and to pave the way to a speedy return to normal peace-time pursuits while recruiting the full fighting strength of the nation—these are results that would be instantly rejected as impossible did not the actual facts stand.

Truly were we the melting pot of the world; and the cosmopolitan composition of our population was never more strikingly disclosed than by the recent events of the world war. Then the melting pot stood in the fierce fires of the national emergency, and its contents, heated in the flames, either fused into the compact mass or floated off as dross.

The great and inspiring revelation here has been that men of foreign and of native origin alike responded to the call to arms with a patriotic devotion that confounded the cynical plans of our archenemy and surpassed our own highest expectations. No man can peruse the muster roll of one of our camps, or the casualty list from a battlefield in France, without realizing that America has fulfilled one of its highest missions in breeding a spirit of common loyalty among all those who have shared the blessings of life on its free soil.

I am certain that no great national undertaking was ever begun which depended so utterly upon faith in a people for its execution, and undoubtedly no faith has ever been more completely justified and no confidence more abundantly rewarded.

"Glory" of Old Sailing Days.

Looking forward to a revival of American shipping under new conditions, one can cheerfully enough accept the opinion of a veteran seaman, talking to a young reporter, that the "glory" of the old sailing days is much overrated. The billowing canvas was impressive; but the facts of the case, confides this mariner, are that the sailors had to live in quarters that were badly ventilated, if ventilated at all, badly lighted and cramped almost beyond endurance. A steady diet of hardtack and "salt horse" mitigated the glory of the sea, while chanteys, although they helped things along, were often compulsory, and little joy to the sailor man who was singing to order.-Christian Science Monitor.

Often at inspections it is customary for officers to pass by the sergeants, merely giving their equipment a casual glance, assuming, no doubt, that as they are more experienced soldiers than the privates, their equipment is in proper condition. As a result of this it sometimes happens that the sergeants allow their rifles to get in rather poor shape. That some officers are alive to this is shown by a young second lieutenant, who, after examining a particularly dirty rifle, handed it back to the luckless private, remarking disgustedly: "Your rifle is dirty enough to be a sergeant's."

'CARRY ON' AND DO IT NOW, SAYS THOMAS MARSHALL

Vice President Sends Message to the Southwest and the Substance of That Message is: Get Busy.

Dallas, Texas, April 23—Build now; manufacture now; buy now—that is the chief word of advice I would have for Dallas and the southwest, and it is just as applicable throughout the nation."

This was the keynote of a message which Vice President Thomas Riley Marshall delivered to the southwest. That was definitely decided on at a meeting this morning when J. T. Maloney, E. J. Fountain, J. L. Edge, J. S. Doane, Eugene Edge, W. I. McCulloch, W. H. Cole, A. B. O'Flaherty, J. D. Martin, W. S. Higgs, S. B. Wilson, and S. E. Eberstadt met at the Commercial club rooms and canvassed the situation carefully.

"Manufacturers are limiting their output as far as possible, feeling that cheaper raw materials will come in time," Mr. Marshall said. "Whole-salers are skimping their purchases for the same reason; retailers are buying from hand to mouth, and 'John Jones,' the ultimate consumer, is washing and rewashing his shirt until it hangs in rags. bottom is not going to drop out of raw materials and labor prices.

"People who want the country to prosper will go ahead with their in-dustry, regardless of prices. In my opinion, this is the finest way to show patriotism.

"It is true that many people laughed at President Wilson's statement that hard times are more or less psychological, but no more veracious and sensible phrase was ever uttered. In my little way I have been urging business to carry on, firmly believing that matters will adjust themselves correctly in time.

"Ten years ago I made the statement that better and more general education of the public would mean that the masses would insist on a fairer distribution of wealth. I say, fairer distribution of weath. I say, this now, although no one was ever a firmer believer in the individualistic doctrines of Thomas Jefferson. The situation is this: It is not what I want, but what I know is coming. It does no good for a person to get in front of a Texas steer and yell for it to stop.

And yet that is essentially what And yet that is essentially what wealthy men are doing when they hold back industry, feeling that the bottom will in time drop out of the prices of labor, and materials."

What Are You Going to Do About It?

One of the leading bankers of Brazos county and one of the most respected men in the community says that it will be a crying shame if Bryan and Brazos county fails to raise its quota of the Victory loan. He is right. It will be a shame---a lasting shame and a disgrace.

There is no use mincing words nor beating the devil around the stump by attempting to make excuses. If the people of Brazos county refuse to subscribe for their part of this loan they are not good Americans and do not deserve a good government. Such words do not look well in print, nor do they sound well to the ear, yet they are true and YOU know they are.

There is not a man in this county, white or black, red or yellow, but knows the country is amply able to subscribe its rull quota and they know further that it should be done. What are YOU going to do about it? We are making a mighty bad start. Some counties have already gone over the top and Brazos county has not yet even started.

What are you going to do about the Victory loan, you business man, you professional man, you farmer and planter, and you laboring man? Are you going to let the word go out to the world that Brazos county is too selfish and too dishonest to do its part to maintain the best government

The other day a representative of the Federal Reserve bank was in Bryan and met with the publicity committee which was one of the committees appointed to do something, but which has only succeeded in getting up enough energy to meet and revolute a few resolutions and then adjourn. This committee told the Reserve bank's representative that they would raise $500 or $1,000 to defray the expenses of a Victory loan campaign, but manana-like they put it off until next day. The Reserve bank's representative, believing the committee was composed of energetic business men, took them at After the man left.

What was the result? After the man left some of the committee got to counting how much $500 was and they couldn't see why that amunt should be raised. Another man thought $250 would be enough. Another said he thought $100 ought to cover everything, and another thought "we ought to think about the matter further before taking action," and WE are still thinking about the matter. That's as far as the matter has gone.

The county chairman says the business men and the commercial club have "laid down on him." The business men say that the county chairman is taking no interest and that they are willing to do work if he will get busy.

In the meantime hundreds of expensive advertising lithographs sent here by the Reserve bank are lying in the Commercial Club rooms, unused.

What are you going to do about it?

We have fallen down on paving our streets. We have fallen down on building good roads. We have fallen down on raising our quota for the Jewish Relief fund, and we are going to fall down on raising our quota for the Victory loan unless we wake up and be men---real men. There is no use in repeating arguments as to the desirability of the Victory loan as an investment. That has been stated and reiterated so often that every one knows that the Victory loan is an unusually good investment, looking at it purely from a financial standpoint. Is natriotism dead in Bryan and Brazos county? Have we no civic pride? Are we willing to be known as the slacker county? The county that ALWAYS fails; the county that is living in a by-gone age; that seeks to grab the dollar and forget every instinct of the finer, nobler There are men in this county who made more than one hundred thousand dollars profit last year. One man just a few days ago boasted that he would make more than a hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars clear money this year, with anything like a normal crop year. And still we are falling down in doing our duty as citi-

Shall we be slackers and let the north take all the loan and then spend our time cursing the "damn Yankees"

Praise God! There are communities and counties that will take the Victory bonds, even if the people of Brazos county do fail. It is not a question of raising the Victory loan. It will be raised. There are patriots left in this country, and honorable men who, having assumed an obligation to pay the expense of the war that saved us all, will not repudiate that obligation, even if others do. What are YOU going to do about YOUR part of that obligation? Repudiate it?

FACTS ABOUT DEADLOCK.

Paris, April 23.---The facts of the deadlock over Italian claims in Adriatic are, according to the Petit Parisien as follows: President Wilson proposed that Fiume which is not mentioned in the treaty of London should be a free city, but attached to the Jugo Slav customs system, and that the London treaty be subjected to a total revision. Italy refused to accept this proposal where-upon Wilson withdrew, leaving Italy alone with the representatives of the other signatories.

Baron Sonnino said he was not ready to discuss a revision of the London treaty. Premiers Clemenceau and Lloyd George said they were ready to adhere, purely and simply to the treaty of London, at the same time seeking a means of conciliation.

Wilson is said to have changed his view in regards to Fiume and is now inclined to give it absolutely to Jugo Slavia.

The President contends that new states have been created for which Fiume is the natural outlet to the sea. The president also contends that the strategetic necessity pleaded in behalf of Italy's claims to the Dalmatian island no longer prevails, as the Austrian naval menace has ceased to exist.

GIVE THE BOYS AND GIRLS
THEIR CHANCE

Progressive Farmer Let's give our boys and girls a square deal this year. Let's give them a chance to show what is in them. And how can this be more easily done than by enlisting them in club work—corn club, pig club, poultry club or canning club—and giving them a chance to make some money for themselves?

If you can't give the boy an acre of land and the use of your horses in cultivating it, let him pay you for the rent of land or hire of horses. If you can't give the boy the pig and feed, let him pay for these. If you can't give the girl a canning outfit, let her pay you in two, three, or four equal yearly installments. But in any case, give the boy or girl a chance to make something on his or her own labor in club work and then help them invest or expend it in use-

Put your boy in club work this year—and be just as eager to get your girl enrolled. Practically every benefit which we are suggesting for boys will apply with equal force in the case of girls.

High School Writes Good Roads Article Farmers Should Read

Miss Ola Williams, in the ninth grade of the Wellborn school, has written a splendid article and every farmer in Brazos county would do well to read what this young lady has to say. When one reads such articles

Hormag Teeling The, your New Hormag Teeling The, your New Hormag The Hormag Teeling The, your New Hormag Teeling The, your N

The country, however, is most affected, because the public road is the sole means of transportation, when we have the boat landing, the railroad; and the interurban stations. Hence if we wish the benefits of modern progress and civilization to be enjoyed by all, we must provide good public roads.

It is hardly possible to estimate the benefits of good roads and how much it would help Brazos county.

The cost of hauling is a problem that is before every workman. In order to estimate the cost per ton-mile on any kind of road it is necessary to know the size of load that can be drawn by a team, and the rate of wages for driver, team and wagon. In seemingly endure to hold out long on the march. this way it is said that on unimproved five cents per ton-mile while on good roads it is only nine cents. Thus you see twenty cents could be saved. And very often on account of hauling far-mers are forced to sell their products at a reduced price and usually have to pay more for their supplies.

> Objection is sometimes made farm products, because it is said that a farmer does his own hauling which a farmer does his own hauling which son C. Marsh is Defendant, and said son C. Marsh is Defendant, and said leaving as follows, to-wit: but it is untrue. Is it not worth something for a farmer to haul a big load quickly instead of a small load slow cuted and delivered to John B. Mike, quickly instead of a small load slow ly? Why does he pay four or five hundred dollars for a team when he could secure one for two hundred? Why does he buy a heavy and expen-sive wagon when he could buy a light one for less money? As good roads are the chief necessity, it is useless to discuss the above question. Therefore every thrifty farmer enleavors to get such an outfit and he knows that is money well spent.

The truth of the matter is at this time the farmer must figure his time "Without a word I took the held-out cup and drained its contents. My heart was too full to speak. What a great was too full to speak. What a great was too full to speak. What a great was too full to speak what a great was too full to speak. Good roads save the "bad road tax"
